François Vauvillier : Les Canons de la Victoire 1914 - 1918: Tome 1: l'Artillerie de Campagne (Les Materiels de l'Armee Francaise) (French Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Les Canons de la Victoire 1914 - 1918: Tome 1: l'Artillerie de Campagne (Les Materiels de l'Armee Francaise) (French Edition):

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. good startBy Leslie Hulkowerbook is in french but the pictures are great.A lot of older guns ,not much on the 155 gpf i had hoped for more.also english would have helped but it came from france

French Text The French Army started campaigning in August 1914 with a surprising field gun, the “75”, which was supposed to do everything, alongside a very weak assortment of heavy field artillery. The level of detail reached by this book is unrivaled. For the first time since the twenties, all the materiel used by the French field artillery (light and heavy) from August 1914 to November 1918, is presented in its historical context and with its principal specifications. This small volume reviews the 40 or so different artillery patterns used by the French army on the Western front from 1914-1918: it will be followed by a second volume concentrating on extra heavy railroad artillery and other specialty weapons.
