This is the DEFINITE ULTIMATE book on anyone wishing to pursue this subject to the maximum!! Author William C Davis has done an outstanding job in compiling this great work: the book profoundly covers all facets, from the homesteaders and gold prospecters in the early 19th Century, right through the 1840s-50s, into the Civil War (there is a separate book on this "Illustrated Directory" series covering the latter conflict, titled "Illustr. Dir. of Uniforms Equipment of the Civil War", which may also be attributed to Mr. Davis), and subsequently straight through the Indian Wars of the mid to late 19th Century. In between, you learn about the famous lawmen and outlaws, the saloons, the girls in those saloons (lol),not to mention full color photos of every handgun and rifle, from ladies' derringers to the famous Winchester repeating rifles and the Colts Remingtons in between! There is even coverage of some of the artillery used by the U.S. Cavalry! Plus the color photo gallery also illustrates other accoutrements and equipment used by prospecters,gold diggers, gunmen, sherriffs, you name it and full-color drawings of characters like cavalymen, outlaws, American Indians, wagons, stagecoaches furthermore supplement this great book. In 19th century America, the great surge westward by settlers eager to open up the frontiers and take advantage of as-yet unknown natural resources. This extraordinary story is detailed in this fact-filled and illustration-packed reference featuring specially commissioned photographs of surviving weapons, implements, tools, and equipment, as well as Native American artifacts. The text, also illustrated with rare period photos, describes how explorers, homesteaders, the lawless and lawmen, buffalo hunters, railroaders, and others lived-and often fought-with each other and the Native Americans beyond the Mississippi to the Pacific Ocean and from the northern territories to the Mexican border.
